

When Mark first joined Unicorn Center he was rather shy. Over the past year he has really come out of his shell. He now volunteers to do assignments and other activities that he would have never dreamed of a year ago. It should also be mentioned that he has excellent interaction skills....a young man with old school manners....way to go Mark! Mark is currently writing a book about himself and what he does each day. On Fridays, he volunteers at Clark HS as a "Man Friday". Mark is also an accomplished piano player and has even performed at the State Capital!
